Parochial Aid Review Asked

Use Of State Money Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing sides have joined in asking the Supreme Court to decide whether state funds may be used to supplement salaries of lay teachers in parochial schools.

If the high court agrees to decide whether a 1969 Rhode Island law is constitutional, it would become the third church-state case marked for Supreme Court review.

The Rhode Island law, calling for state supplements of up to 15 per cent for teachers in non public schools, was declared unconstitutional June 15 by a three-judge federal court at Providence, R.I.

Six Rhode Island taxpayers who fought the law successfully before the three-judge panel contend the high court should rule on the question because it is more appropriate than the other church-state cases before it.

The state and attorneys for parents and teachers connected with the school asked earlier for a Supreme Court review.

The Supreme Court already has agreed to hear two church-state cases involving whether public assistance to church-affiliated schools violates the 1st Amendment prohibition against establishment of a state religion.

One is a Pennsylvania case in which a tax on horse racing is used to finance teaching of secular subjects in church-run schools. The other is a Connecticut case involving federal assistance in the form of construction grants to church-related colleges and universities.

'Boston Blackie' Chester Morris Dies Of Overdose

NEW HOPE, Pa. (AP) — The actor who made "Boston Blackie" an idol of moviegoers in the 1930s and 40s is dead at 69.

Chester Morris, who portrayed the suave, tough private eye, was found dead Friday in his hotel room. Morris had been starring in "The Court Martial of the Caine Mutiny" at the Bucks County Playhouse in this southeastern Pennsylvania community.

Dr. Samuel Willard, Bucks County coroner, said Morris died from an overdose of barbiturates late Friday morning.

Willard did not say if the death was accidental but reported his investigation is continuing.

UAW Rejects GM Offer; Chances Of Strike Grow

DETROIT (AP) — Vowing to get a better offer, United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock returns to the bargaining table today after rejecting a new contract proposal from General Motors Corp.

The company said its offer would raise the annual wages of its average factory worker to more than $12,000 within three years.

Woodcock said it did not contain enough either in wages or fringe benefits.

The UAW chief said he viewed the chances of avoiding a strike at General Motors or Chrysler, or both, at midnight Monday as "very, very dim at the moment."

Whirlwind Kills At Least 30 In Venice

Passenger Boat Thrown In Air; Sinks Quickly

VENICE (AP) — A short-lived whirlwind wrought destruction and death in Venice's suburbs and on the lagoon Friday night when it picked up a crowded passenger boat "like a toothpick," spun it in the air and rocketed it back into the water, where it sank in 30 seconds.

Frogmen recovered 18 bodies, and 30 other persons were rescued. The others of the approximately 60 aboard were missing. The toll on land was 12 killed and about 200 injured, police said.

"I saw the whirlwind whisk by," a gondolier said. "It picked up the motorboat like a toothpick, held it in the air and then threw it back into the water like a cannonball."

"There wasn't a shout. Nobody had time to realize what was going on. I only heard the bang of the metal being twisted as if it were a feather."

The survivors, including Enzo Bullo, the pilot, fell from the craft while it was in the air, police said.

"I tried to steer the wheel away, but I couldn't do a thing," Bullo said. "Suddenly I found myself in midair, the boat plunging into the water under me. I fell into the lagoon, and I looked around for any possible survivors. But I was dazed, half crazy, and I barely managed to get to shore."

Authorities estimated the wind speed at 125 miles per hour. The whirlwind, which is similar to a tornado, splintered houses, shops and street stands, then dissipated over the Gulf of Venice. Electrical power was interrupted throughout the canal city.

Police said damage was confined mainly to private buildings, although a hospital and the soccer stadium sustained heavy damage. The twister spared the city's art treasures in St. Mark's Square and along the Grand Canal, which are downtown.

Hurricane Ella Hits In Mexico

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Ella slammed into a lightly populated section of northeastern Mexico today.

Radar trackers reported the powerful storm surged ashore about 6 a.m.

Winds topped 125 miles per hour as the storm thrust from the Gulf of Mexico toward the fishing village of La Pesca at the mouth of the Rio Soto la Marina. It consists mostly of small houses with thatched roofs and summer cabins.

A Weather Bureau advisory at 5 a.m. placed the center of the hurricane very near the coastline at about latitude 23.9 north and longitude 97.7 west, or approximately 135 miles south of Brownsville. It was moving westward at 5 to 8 m.p.h.

Ella also was pointed toward the small town of Soto la Marina, 22 miles inland. The nearest city is Ciudad Victoria, capital of Tamaulipas State which is 82 miles west of the Gulf.

Tides up to 8 feet and rains of 15 inches were expected as Ella surged ashore.

Rain already was falling in torrents and spreading inland over extreme South Texas and Northeastern Mexico.

Sustained winds near the center increased to 125 m.p.h. with stronger gusts, the Weather Bureau said.

OEA Threatens Full State Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Education Association official said Friday that the association's 88,000 member teachers may hold a statewide work stoppage next fall if the Ohio General Assembly doesn't act on comprehensive financing proposals for education.

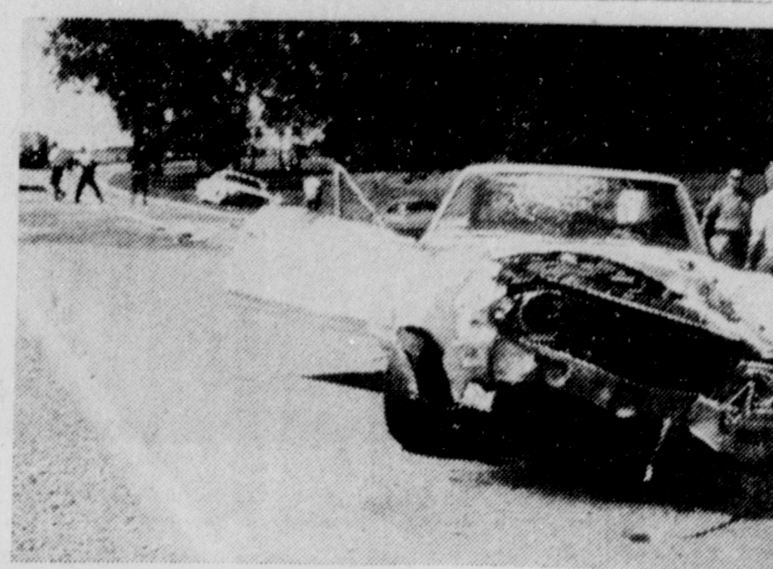

"We are determined to do what we have to in order to bring about tax reforms," Dr. Stayner F. Brighton, OEA executive secretary, told the city Club.

"We are a responsible organization, and any final decision would have to be made by our members. We might have to take dramatic steps to show the public just what the situation is."

Seven Hurt In U.S. 35 Crash

Seven persons were injured, one seriously, in a head-on two-car wreck on U. S. 35-S near Boyd Road about 2:30 p.m. Friday.

David Luckhart, 38, Rt. 1, Laurelsville, is listed in "guarded" condition at Mercy Hospital, Columbus, where he was transferred after emergency treatment at Fayette Memorial Hospital and at Riverside Methodist Hospital.

Others hurt were Lynn Grooms, 21, Rt. 3, Washington

C. H. driver of the second car, who received fractured ribs and severe lacerations, and passengers Richard Grooms, 2, a cut on the arm; Martin Grooms, 15 months, a broken leg and lacerations; Marilyn Sigman, 23, of 1111 S. Hinde St., lacerated scalp, and Jason Sigman, 10 months, abrasions.

Luckhart and Gray had been on company business in the area and were returning to the Producers Livestock offices here at the time of the wreck. Mrs. Grooms and Mrs. Sigman were going to Chillicothe at the time of the wreck, according to the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Ky Ends Boycott Of Paris Talks

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, supervisor of the South Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks, said today he plans to return to the negotiations after a nearly 18-month boycott.

In an unrelated development, the U.S. Command announced the first withdrawals of infantry units from the U.S. 1st Marine Division and said the initial re-deployment would cut American strength in Vietnam by 1,400 men.

Informed sources said the entire 20,000-man division will be withdrawn from Vietnam by next May 1 as part of President Nixon's plans to cut the authorized American troop strength to 284,000 by next spring. Current U.S. strength is just under 400,000.

President Nguyen Van Thieu's office and other independent sources left the impression that Ky would not be carrying back any new proposals to end the war in Vietnam.

The official sources said that if there were any dramatic new initiatives to be made, Thieu likely would make such an announcement in Saigon.

On the battlefields of Indochina, fighting continued on three fronts: —Enemy troops launched their third ground assault this week against South Vietnamese infantrymen about a mile southwest of embattled Fire Base O'Reilly in the northern quarter of South Vietnam near Laos. Field reports said the attack was driven back. The enemy lost eight men killed, and South Vietnamese losses were two killed and five wounded. A U.S. Marine A4 bomber was shot down 20 miles south of the base, and the pilot was reported as missing.

—South Vietnamese forces backed by bombers and artillery claimed killing 73 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in three clashes in the Mekong River Delta ranging from 42 to 124 miles southwest of Saigon. Field reports said 33 South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded but none killed.

—North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers cut Highway 1 linking Cambodia with South Vietnam and launched mortar attacks on Cambodian troops attempting to clear out the area 30 miles south of Phnom Penh.

The U.S. 7th Fleet destroyer Lloyd Thomas steamed for Subic Bay Naval Base in the Philippines for repairs after an explosion in a forward gun mount killed three crewmen and injured 10.

Surplus Grain To Ease Shortage From Corn Blight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mountain of surplus grain produced by farmers in recent years is proving a valuable asset for American consumers in view of a reduced prospect for 1970 corn production.

The Agriculture Department has sliced more than 400 million bushels from this year's corn predictions since July because of a rampant disease called Southern leaf blight and severe dry weather.

There is no fear of a grain shortage, however, Agriculture Secretary Clifford N. Hardin said Friday following release of the latest estimate calling for 4.4 billion bushels of corn this year.

"With the large carryover of grains that we have, amounting totally in the country to about 2.5 billion bushels," Hardin said, "there is no question that there will be ample grains to feed livestock through the 1971 harvest season."

Furthermore, Hardin said, the grain reserve accumulated from earlier bumper crops is enough to meet record export demands if these materialize.

The department's estimate was larger than some grain experts had indicated since the blight and drought intensified last month.

But government officials pointed out the September estimate is only preliminary and that later forecasts, issued monthly, might bring further reductions.

"Southern corn leaf blight was reported on Sept. 1 in nearly every state from Texas to South Dakota and eastward to Florida and New England," Friday's report said.

The average corn yield per acre was set at 75.9 bushels, down from 80.9 predicted in August and the record of 83.9 bushels produced last year.

Even so, Hardin noted, the September estimate calls for the third largest corn crop in U.S. history.

Winter Storm Hits Rockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pre-season winter storm socked the northern Rockies with snow, rain and freezing cold today and was expected to send a sharp chill over much of the Great Plains by Sunday morning.

Temperatures fell into the middle 20s in northern Montana by midnight. Readings in the 20s and 30s were forecast tonight from the northern half of the Rockies eastward across Nebraska and into Minnesota.

Across the country, heavy rain soaked extreme south Texas as Hurricane Ella churned over the Gulf to the east coast of Mexico, 135 miles south of Brownsville, Tex.

Ella, still charting an erratic course, packed winds of more than 125 miles an hour.

The early outbreak of wintry weather in the Rockies brought travelers warnings to most of Montana and to Wyoming and northern Colorado. Warnings to stockmen were issued for Wyoming and parts of Nebraska and Kansas.

More than 3 inches of snow blanketed northern area of Montana. Tire chains were required on most passes across the Continental Divide.

Cold rain and snow extended over most of Montana and northern Wyoming and Eastward into the Dakotas as well.

Plane Hostages Move To Amman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 100 hostages held by Arab guerrillas in three hijacked planes in the Jordanian desert left the dusty airstrip today for Amman and a guerrilla official said more were to be released through the day.

"Oh, we are so relieved to be through with this," said a blonde schoolgirl leaning out the window of an army bus as it left for Jordan's capital city.

The first busload to leave the dusty airstrip 25 miles north of the Jordanian capital contained 22 British schoolchildren who were aboard a British Overseas

Airlines Corp. plane that was hijacked Wednesday, sources said.

They added that women would be the first of the other passengers to go to Amman.

Sixty-six of the hijacked passengers flew to freedom in Cyprus on Friday and 20 others headed for Beirut after being released from their sweltering plane in the desert.

The guerrilla sources who reported the start of the new move to Amman from the airstrip said all American Jews would be brought to hotels in the capital with women and children holding Israeli passports. But Israeli men of military age would be kept in a separate "special hotel," the sources said.

The guerrillas emphasized that the transfer of the hostages to Amman does not mean they will be released, but that they will be in more comfortable circumstances than before.

The central committee of the Palestinian Liberation Organization—nominally in control of all guerrilla groups—announced Friday that all the hijack victims still aboard the planes would be brought immediately to Amman. But the splinter Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, which hijacked the planes, did not go along with the decision and the hostages spent the night cooped up in their aircraft.

For many of the victims, it was the sixth night in the desert. Two of the planes, a Swiss air DC8 and a Trans World Airlines Boeing 707, were hijacked to the airstrip Sunday as they were leaving from European points for New York. A British Overseas Airways Corp. VC10 was hijacked over the Persian Gulf on Wednesday on a flight from Bombay to London.

The hijackers have threatened to blow up the planes by 10 p.m. EDT today unless their demands for the release of seven commandos held in Switzerland, West Germany and Britain are met. There were reports that the Palestinians had abandoned their deadline, but a spokesman in Amman insisted "it still stands."

Fight Spreading Oil Along Otter Creek

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A three-to-four-mile oil slick on Otter Creek here has been described by Coast Guard officials as the worst so far this year in the area. The creek flows into Maumee Bay.

Several Coast Guard boats have set up container booms at the bottom end of the slick in an effort to keep the oil from spreading further. Containment of the slick is expected sometime today. The source of the slick has not been determined.

Mother And Children Run Big Ranch

AT HOME ON THE RANGE—The first year she only knew the difference between a cow and a bull. Now Stella Johnson, 34, owns and runs a 1,200 acre cattle ranch with the help of her four children, ages 6 to 14.

Lack Of Experience Did Not Stop Her

By STELLA ROBERTS

MILL CREEK, Okla. (AP)—

If you think running a 1,200-acre cattle ranch is strictly a man's job, guess again. . . and meet Mrs. Paula Johnson, lady rancher.

Mrs. Johnson, 34, operates the MC Charolais Ranch, two miles west of this little Johnston County town in the hilly pastureland of southern Oklahoma.

She does it with the help of five "hands," four of them under 15.

Mrs. Johnson, a divorcee, took over the ranch from her father Tol Dickinson, a Norman businessman, in 1966, moving here with her four young children.

Working almost single-handedly — and starting out with no knowledge or experience in the cattle business — she has built the ranch into a going concern. She runs some 200 head of cattle, mostly mixed Charolais and Angus. Hopefully, within the next three years, she says, she'll have a purebred Charolais herd.

FOR THE FIRST year Mrs. Johnson relied for help almost entirely on her four youngsters, then aged 10 to 14. The second year, she hired a man, but says she still does all chores concerned with the cattle. Her single employee, she says, mostly builds fences and does other jobs around the ranch.

How does an attractive young mother get into the ranching business?

Mrs. Johnson says her father bought the MC Ranch back in 1962, mostly as "a playground for the grandkids." Her four daughters have supplied him with 13.

Not long afterwards Mrs. Johnson left her husband, an Army career man in Germany, and returned to Norman with her children.

She took a job, but was unhappy being away from the children too much.

Then one day, she said, her father said, kidding: "Why don't you move down to the ranch and keep an eye on things?"

ALTHOUGH her only previous experience with animals was with a horse she had as a child, Mrs. Johnson moved to the ranch and learned about the cattle business — quickly.

Her father had stocked the ranch with two herds of Angus, looked after by a hired hand. However, shortly after Mrs. Johnson settled on the ranch, the man quit.

"I had 25 heifers that started calving in September," says Mrs. Johnson, recalling how she delivered those calves, doctored sick animals and rode the pastures.

"We fed the cattle in the afternoons in the winter. As soon as the kids got off the school bus, we started out . . . mud or snow, we looked after those cattle."

Originally most of the help came from the two older children, Larry Tol, now 14 and Calvin Eugene, 12. Today, however, Brenda Lynn, 9 and Thomas Page, 6, are becoming good ranchhands, Mrs. Johnson says.

THOSE FIRST years were rough says Mrs. Johnson, but at least the family was together — and they still are.

"The first year I was down here I didn't know a thing. I knew the difference between a cow and a bull and that was about it."

To make matters worse, she broke a finger that first year while roping a calf.

"And before I got the cast off, a cow stepped on my foot and I got to crutches."

But despite the hardships she stuck it out. She bought a cow, planted a garden, learned to can vegetables and to make jelly for her family . . . all the time keeping up with the cattle operation.

ONE OF THE FIRST things she did was to change from Angus beef cattle to Charolais breeding stock. If you follow her through the pasture it's easy to understand why.

A bucket of feed in one hand, she greets each bull cow and calf by number, feeding them from her hand. She's fond of each one, she says.

"I cried for a week after sending the first Angus steers to market," she said. "I decided

THE HELPING HANDS—Larry Tol, 14; Thomas Page, 6, Brenda Lynn, 9, and Calvin Eugene, 12.

I wanted a registered herd that I could sell for breeding stock." To learn about breeding, she attended a cattle school in Garnett, Kan., two years ago, one of three women in the class.

She was mainly interested in learning about artificial insemination, to cut the cost and speed up the process of cross-breeding her Angus herd with registered Charolais. Since then she has set up her own artificial breeding program, which she handles herself.

CURRENTLY she has nine to ten head of purebred Charolais cattle which she bought. Most of the other cattle are only part Charolais. The fifth generation of cross-breeding, she says, will result in animals classed as purebred.

Mrs. Johnson says she's never even for a moment, regretted moving to the ranch.

Would she advise other women to take up ranching?

While conceding that "you have to have a love for it," she thinks it's a fine idea.

Extension Agents Receive Recognition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three of Ohio's county agricultural extension agents received distinguished service awards last month at the national meeting of agricultural agents in Corvallis, Ore.

Leland Schuler of Geauga County was recognized for his work with the maple syrup industry, Charles M. Perry of Perry County for his work in the area of community improvements, and Adrian C. DeBrosse of Mercer County for leadership in developing swine, dairy and resource development programs.

Meeting Set For Thursday

Plans for the annual meeting of the Fayette County Soil and Water Conservation District Thursday evening in the Mahan Building have been completed.

The business session, at which two supervisors will be elected and an address will be given by Floyd E. Felt, will follow a smorgasbord supper at 6:30 p.m.

The meeting will be conducted by Chairman James E. Waddle. There are approximately 600 cooperators — farmers who have taken advantage of the opportunity to have their farms evaluated and soil and water conservation programs recommended by specialists — in Fayette County. Lee Cleland, district conservationist, who planned the program, said "we are hoping at least 150 will be at the meeting."

Heft, the principal speaker, is chief of the Division of Soil and Water Conservation District of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Nominees for the board of supervisors are Richard M. Carson and Clyde R. Bower, whose terms expire this year. John A. Peterson and Ronald L. Kile.

135 Boars and Gilts In A&B Farm Sale Here Next Saturday

A total of 135 boars and gilts will be sold to the highest bidder at the annual fall Andrews & Baughn sale, starting at 7 p.m. next Saturday, Sept. 19, in the new show-sales pavilion at the Fairground here.

The sale will include 50 Hampshire boars and 45 gilts, 20 Yorkshire boars and 20 gilts and 30 commercial gilts.

This is the largest offering ever made by the A & B Farm, Lewis Rd.

The A & B Farm, which has built up a wide and enviable reputation for its registered Hampshires, has included 40 Yorkshires in the sale this time. The auctioneers will be Merlin Woodruff, of Urbana, and Jess Schlichter, of Fayette County.

Lunch will be served by the Golden Rule Sunday School Class of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church.

Mother Bird Sits On

DUBLIN (AP) — Workers at the North Wall railroad junction heard a bird tweeting from beneath a freight car. They found a mother thrush who had been dutifully sitting on her eggs during the car's 60-mile journey from Carlow. Transport authorities ordered the freight car not to be moved until the eggs were hatched.

Check Ears And Shanks For Rot

Another Threat To Corn Crop

"As we watch the development of the southern corn leaf blight spread, we feel it's now time to forget about leaf damage and to pay attention to ears and shanks."

That's the most recent advice to farmers from University of Illinois Extension Service plant pathologist Malcolm Shurtleff.

Shurtleff suggests checking fields two or three times each week. And he advises noting differences between hybrids when checking fields.

He points out that shank and ear rots develop rapidly. And the rots may be present in fields where little leaf damage is noticeable.

"Farmers can best gauge their own harvesting schedule by keeping a close watch on rot development in their own fields," Shurtleff says.

Shurtleff says shank rot is also common in Illinois corn fields — in fields that look frosted and ready to harvest, and in fields that are green and look normal.

Shank rot causes ears that should be upright to hang down. If you check the shanks, you'll find them nearly rotted through.

Rain and wind during the next 10 to 20 days — or delayed harvest — could cause serious ear drop as a result of shank rot, Shurtleff says.

Harvesting Suggestions

"If you find no signs of ear or shank rot in your fields, follow normal harvesting practices," says agricultural engineer Frank Andrew.

"Start harvesting when moisture drops to 25 per cent and then dry the grain to the 13 per cent level."

But in fields with obvious signs of ear and shank rot, Andrew suggests:

— Start harvesting when grain moisture reached 30 per cent.

— Dry damaged and infested grain to below the 13 per cent mark if you plan to store it.

Andrew says farmers should expect machinery problems and harvesting losses as they begin the harvest of 30 per cent moisture corn.

"You'll just have to experiment with speeds and machine adjustments until you find what works best for you," he advises. And he points out that long-term storage of low-quality grain is a questionable practice.

Both specialists agree that there's a lot of misinformation about the mold problem as a human health hazard.

"We suggest farmers wear a respirator — not a gas mask — when combining, drying or handling grain that contains mold," Andrew says. "But we've always made the same suggestion whenever farmers work at any dusty job."

Shurtleff points out that 10 to 15 per cent of the United States population has allergies to one or more of the wide range of molds that exist. Such people will probably experience discomfort similar to what hayfever sufferers experience when the ragweed pollen count is high.

The specialists also agree that there's little if any danger to farmers checking their fields for rots and molds. But they suggest that farmers who know they have allergic reactions to molds wear respirators to avoid the risk.

Carcass Contests Point Way To Better Pork, More Profit

By DAVID B. GERBER
(Area Extension Service Agent)

Pork producers should consider entering this Lean Cuts Production Contest for the 1971 Spring Barrow Show, where the amount of lean meat per day of age will determine the winner. Commercial pork producers are in the best position to win.

This contest places emphasis on the importance of these key production practices of the pork industry: (1) high growth rate; (2) lean meat production; (3) efficiency feed conversion.

An index has been developed which will determine the top entries. The winner will be named on the basis of pounds of lean meat per day of age times 100, plus the lean cut percentage of chilled carcass weight.

The high index last year was 121.87. The barrow, born on Sept. 4, was 149 days old when weighed in. The lean cut percentage was 63 per cent. The total weight of lean cuts (skinned ham, trimmed loin and New York shoulder) was 88.8 lbs.

A few of the requirements are:

(1) Only barrows can be entered; (2) Pigs must be nominated by 5 days of age with the county Extension Service agent and be ear-notched. These pigs will be tattooed by the time they are 14 days old and before they weigh 15 lbs. (3) hogs must be farrowed on or after Sept. 1, 1970; (4) Entries must meet a minimum weight of 195 lbs. when weighed in at the show on Friday, Jan. 29, 1971; (5)

Carcasses must meet a minimum loin eye measurement of 4.5 square inches, a minimum length of 29.5 inches, and have a maximum average backfat thickness of 1.5 inches. All of these must be adjusted to a 220-lb. hog. They are to have a minimum chilled carcass weight of 135 lbs; (6) In the past, producers have fed these pigs at home — but special for this year, commercial producers have the choice of feeding at home, or have the privilege of putting two nominated pigs in the Swine Evaluation Station at Columbus.

Producers interested in more details on this special contest should contact their local county Extension Service agent, or the Area Extension Service Center, 317 S. Fayette St.

Ohio Farm Bureau Now In New Role

A new sponsorship agreement between the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and the Producers Livestock Association was announced today in a joint statement released by C. William Swank, executive vice president, OFBF, and Gerald Hiller, general manger, PLA.

Under terms of the agreement, the Farm Bureau, a general farm organization with more than 54,000 members, will perform services on behalf of Producers Association in the fields of education, promotion, organization and public relations.

"The purpose of the agreement is to aid in the marketing activities of Producers through coordinated efforts by maximizing the effectiveness of resources owned and controlled by farmers," officials said.

Producers Livestock Association is a farmer-owned cooperative with 60,000 members, based in Columbus, which had a business volume of $170 million in 1969.

Ivan E. Cooper, LaRue, a former Farm Bureau regional supervisor, has been named by the Federation to coordinate the activities called for in the sponsorship agreement.

FARM SCIENCE REVIEW

Sept. 22 - 23 - 24

DON SCOTT FIELD
COLUMBUS, OHIO

Is this trip really necessary?

Whenever grain takes a trip off your farm and comes back in a feed, it can increase your cost of producing meat, milk or eggs.

Transportation costs money—whether grain goes just to town for grinding and mixing, or into storage for several months, or around the long circuit from farm through local elevator, terminal elevator, feed plant, feed store and back to your farm.

And there are other costs—storage, brokerage, handling; processing—that someone must pay when you buy back grain or grain by-products in a feed.

So it makes sense to feed your grain before it leaves home. Even if you need more grain than you raise, it's good economy to buy it as near your farm as possible.

Avoid the costs of unnecessary grain transport and handling by feeding highly concentrated MoorMan's® Mintrate® or Premix-trate® with farm-grown feeds. Grain and roughage leave home only as livestock or livestock products.

You buy only proteins, minerals, vitamins and other working ingredients that help livestock digest and utilize grain and roughage—aid in converting them efficiently and economically into meat, milk and eggs.

If it makes sense to you to buy only the feed nutrients you cannot produce or process yourself, take a good look at MoorMan Feeding Programs. I'll be glad to give you feed cost estimates.

Plenty For The Pentagon

It is one of the less mutable facts of Washington life that Congress generally gives the Pentagon pretty much what it asks for. This tendency has been demonstrated once again by the Senate's rejection of a move to cut seven per cent from the military budget. As a result, the Department of Defense will have 71.2 billion dollars to spend in fiscal 1971, rather than a paltry 66 billion.

There is no great mystery about the congressional penchant for saying yes to military spending requests; none at all, in fact. A number of readily discernible elements have a bearing on this reluctance to curb Pentagon outlays, even at a time when the cry of economy in government and fiscal responsibility is loudly raised.

One perennial factor is that no one in Congress wants to hamper the Defense establishment's capacity to keep the nation secure. The danger of this capacity's being crippled should this or that cut be made is a powerful, if often not very well documented, argument. Members of Congress, conscious of their responsibility for the national defense, tend to err on the side of generosity. This is as it should be, no doubt, but it does make for some fat in the Pentagon budget.

Another reason for the congressional inclination to tip the cornucopia for military spending requests is that this involves fat contracts back home. Rare is the lawmaker who can resist the temptation to channel a few more millions into his home district or state. A scratch-my-back - and-I'll scratch-yours philosophy tends to prevail when military programs are being considered.

Then there is the fact, by no means to be minimized, that the armed services, individually and collectively, maintain a large and busy propaganda apparatus. High priority is given to persuading members of Congress - and their constituents in a position to bring pressure to bear on them - as to the desirability of spending more and more on the military.

There's no mystery, then, about our lawmakers' disinclination to say no to the Pentagon. The mystery is that some resist the yea-saying influences a bit.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Mom Corrects His Letters Home!

DEAR ABBY: I have just about had it with my mother. A year ago I was transferred to another city, so I started to write to her about every other week. Well, mother has a lot of time and she answers my letters the minute she gets them, but here is my complaint: She returns my last letter all marked up with corrections on my spelling, grammar, etc. (She "circles" the mistakes with red ink—like a school teacher.)

Abby, I am a grown man, 29 years of age. I am also married, and these "corrected letters" make me look foolish before my wife. I can't tell my wife not to open my mother's letters because they come addressed to "Mr. and Mrs."

Don't tell me to ask my mother to stop it because she thinks she is "helping" me by pointing out my mistakes. I am a salesman, and have been making steady progress for several years with the same firm, and I don't plan on teaching English anyplace, so please print this in your column and maybe she'll get off my back.

SEEING RED IN LOUISVILLE
DEAR SEEING: You didn't ask for advice; you asked only that I print your letter. If you want to make sure your mother doesn't miss this, circle it in red, and mail it to her. She might get the hint.

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful wife, but she is a nut when it comes to her figure. She looks through the fashion magazines and thinks if she doesn't look like those scrawny, underfed beanpoles, she's too fat. She's a tall woman and could carry a lot more meat on her bones than she does, but she counts every calorie she puts in her mouth. Before we were married (15 years ago) we used to enjoy ice cream sundaes, popcorn and hot dogs. Now it's different. If I reach for a peanut she raps my knuckles and says, "Darling, you don't need that."

Be a pal, Abby, and tell me (in your column) how much you think a woman who is 5 feet 6 should weigh in at.

SKINNY'S HUSBAND
DEAR HUSBAND: She should weigh in at the weight her husband thinks is "way out."

DEAR ABBY: I am an average man, 33 years of age, and I am so ashamed of my problem I could never tell anyone about it because I realize how childish it is. If I am out somewhere and somebody orders "fish" — just the sight of it — if it has the head on, makes me sick and I have to leave the table. (This goes for sardines, too.) Most fish come without the heads, thank heavens, but occasionally they will serve fish with the head, and that is where I can't take it.

I suppose it started when I was small and used to go fishing with my uncle. I hated to see the poor fish flopping around in the boat, or on the hook fighting for their lives. And every dead fish with a head makes me sick. Is there a way to overcome this feeling? I have tried to force myself to look, but my stomach turns over. Thank you.

NO FISH STORY
DEAR NO FISH: Psychotherapy could probably help you to overcome this phobia, but if that's your most serious problem, you're a lucky man.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "NEAT," the man who shaved the hair off his legs and chest because he was teased about it to let it grow again. Hairy-chested men are masculine and sexy looking. Anyone who would tease a hairy man is just jealous. I think deep down, every man wants a hairy body. Why, men are even buying wigs for their chests!

Electric Bill A Shock

BOKSBURG, South Africa (AP) — The monthly electricity account carried a shock for householder A. M. Barker — it was for Rands 672.08 ($940.98). Barker sarcastically asked electricity officials if he could pay in installments. A red-faced meter reader checked the meter and corrected the amount of electricity used from 300,360 units to 360 units. Barker paid the amended account of Rands 4.43 ($6.20) in one installment.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE

Guide To Good Health

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

WHEN the larynx or voice box is removed because of cancer, there is, of course, immediate loss of speech. In a remarkable way, many of these patients learn to speak by a difficult process of swallowing air and then releasing it through the esophagus. Many techniques and instruments have been devised to make it possible to speak and many do with astonishing success.

Surgeons and scientists have been trying to find some way of replacing the larynx and the trachea with tubes made of silastic and a dacron mesh fabric.

Dr. William E. Neville of the Loyola University Stritch School of Medicine is one of those who has been experimenting with the artificial trachea. That which is most astonishing to all physicians who read about this research is that there are so many adventurous scientists who courageously approach an old problem in a new way and frequently come up with great contributions to mankind. This experimental work will be watched with great enthusiasm as it progresses in New Zealand and in Midland, Mich.

One of the rare complications of surgery has been clotting of the veins of the legs. In order to prevent this, patients are encouraged to be up and out of bed within 24 hours after many kinds of surgery. Dr. Norman W. Brouse, of the St. Thomas Hospital Medical School, has found that he can increase the flow of blood in the veins during surgery by stimulating the calf muscles.

By helping these muscles contract with small electrical vibrations, he found that there was a marked diminution in the number of patients who developed blood clots in the veins, and thus markedly shortened the period of convalescence. These muscle contractions increased the blood flow through the veins, and in more than 100 patients brought remarkable success in reducing this unpleasant post-operative complication.

Victims of whiplash injuries are too often accused of being insurance seekers and malingers. It may well be that some take advantage of this kind of injury, and thereby do an injustice to those who really have been hurt.

Continued pain in the neck and back may persist for many months, and it cannot be minimized by those who treat it.

Dr. Ruben Tenicela of the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine has been able to give permanent and complete relief of pain by a process known as nerve blocks. A tiny area which houses the stellate ganglion is the site of injection with a drug, metivacaine.

Dr. Tenicela and his co-workers have been able to uncover some of the false complainers. They bring marked relief to those who truly have a whiplash injury to the muscles of the neck and back.

Marriage In Tennessee Is Of Interest Here

MRS. HOWARD B. SHOERN

Miss Martha Leigh Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ferrell Wilson, of Signal Mtn., Tenn., and Howard B. Shoern, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Shoern, Lookout Mtn., Tenn., will exchange marriage vows at 7:30 p.m. Saturday evening in Signal Mt. Presbyterian Church.

Miss Wilson is the granddaughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. William H. Wilson. The Rev. Mr. Wilson was pastor at the First Baptist Church here, beginning his ministry in 1924 and continuing into the 1940's.

Dr. Robert Eugene Randolph will be assisted in the service by Dr. Robert Wilbur, cousin of the groom.

Miss Wilson, given in marriage by her father, is wearing a formal wedding gown of candlelight satin and reembodyered Alencon lace with fitted bodice, Mandarin neckline, bishop sleeves, and an A-line skirt with lace motif. The detachable train, held at the waist with a Dior bow, terminates in chapel-length, bordered with lace and pearl clusters. She's wearing a full length illusion Mantilla. She carries a gold designers basket of English ivy and Joanna Hill candlelight roses.

Attendants for the bride include a cousin, Miss Ann Jones, of Bowling Green. The seven attendants are wearing floor-length gowns of gold satin with matching loop headpieces with eycrow veils. They carry gold designer baskets of gold daisy pompons, bronze chrysanthemums and tangerine carnations with ivy.

The groom's father will serve as best man for the service.

A reception will follow the ceremony at the Signal Mtn. Golf and Country Club, with the Bob Morrison Band entertaining.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Shoern will live at 111 N. Forrest Ave., Lookout Mtn., Tenn.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Milbourne Flee, 913 Briar Ave are home after a 3-week trip west and north during which the weather was ideal and traveling conditions perfect. They visited to begin their vacation with their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Flee, at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, Colo., then north to Glacier National Park, further north to Waterton Park in Alberta, Canada, and then still further north to Banff National Park, Lake Louise and Jasper National Park. They returned part way east on Trans-Canada Highway and re-entered the United States at International Falls, Minn. The Wisconsin Dells were visited on their way home.

The generally accepted earliest mechanically propelled vessel was the boat designed by James Ramsey in the United States in 1786.

Auxiliary To Host District

Fayette County Auxiliary 2231, Veterans of World War I, met Thursday evening in the American Legion Hall with Mrs. Hile Kennedy, president, conducting the meeting. Mrs. Paul Streeby, chaplain and Mrs. Caroline Bowen, conductress, were in charge of the opening service.

General orders and correspondence was read, committee reports given and a cheer card signed for Mrs. Faye Stultz, a past Auxiliary president. A report of 56 cards sent and 25 calls made during the month was impressive.

District 7 Commander Clifford Moody, of Barracks 936, Newark, visited briefly and discussed the district meeting Oct. 18 with the Fayette County Barracks as hosts at the American Legion Hall.

Mrs. Cloyce Copley presented an interesting travelog on a trip she and her husband took during the summer, visiting Paris, East and West Germany Denmark and the Scandinavian countries.

The president announced that nominations for 1971 officers will be made at the Oct. 8 meeting and the evening closed with prayer by the chaplain.

Circle Has Hamburgers

A "scrumptious" hamburger fry was enjoyed by members of the Judson Missionary Circle of First Baptist Church when they met in the back-yard at the home of Mrs. Henry Best. Mrs. Best pronounced the invocation before the meal.

Mrs. Charles Hurt, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Edwin Nestor offered prayer and new program books were brought up to date. A special project, "Funds for Fang" to benefit Fang, Thailand, was announced. Mrs. Hurt asked for used candles to be brought next month for the "Community Action Homemakers Program." She mentioned the associational meeting to be held in Greenfield Sept. 19, urging members to attend. Mrs. Lora Penwell reported on the "White Cross Quota."

The evening's program was a recording of the experiences of Miss Zelda Bates, a missionary, lately returned from Northeast India. She pointed out that five years is a short time to work on a project and she is waiting for a call to return. The meeting was closed by round robin prayers. Miss Mabel Briggs had devotions and Mrs. Ralph Wolford, a prayer.

Hostesses were Mrs. Best, Mrs. Robert Hurt and Mrs. Charles Hurt.

Open House For Dancers

It was open house when the Shooting Star Square Dancers met for the first go-round of the new season at the American Legion Hall. Dr. John Richards was caller for the evening as guests joined with members for the fun session.

To cap the strenuous activity, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bogan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boylan and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whittington.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sholler, Mr. and Mrs. John Standard, Mr. and Mrs. John Sheeley, Mr. and Mrs. William Black and Mrs. Harold Cruce, who joined members, Mr. and Mrs. Bogan, Mr. and Mrs. Boylan, Mr. and Mrs. Don Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Crissinger, Mrs. Gerald Courter, Mr. and Mrs. William Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. James Hagler, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNutt, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Pfaff, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Provost, Mr. and Mrs. John Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Curly Rowe and Mr. and Mrs. Whittington.

DCCW To Hear Book Review

A book review by Msgr. Fick, Sam Levenson's "And Everything But Money", will highlight the first meeting of the season for the DCCW at St. Colman's Catholic Church at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the church basement.

The Home and School Committee has charge of the program and refreshments and all Catholic women are invited to attend. Mrs. Mary Brocke is DCCW president.

'Constitution Week' Observed At Luncheon

William Horney Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution of Jeffersonville, met Wednesday for a noon luncheon at the Wardell Party House, observing Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23.

The 25 members and eight guests were seated at tables, attractive with bouquets of summer flowers. The speaker's table was centered with a red, white and blue arrangement and an American flag. Mrs. Harold Cline, chaplain, gave the invocation.

Following the luncheon, the regent, Mrs. Charles Cline opened the meeting, as each member introduced herself and her guests. The afternoon session proceeded in ritualistic form by the regent, assisted by the chaplain. Mrs. Otis Thompson, flag chairman, led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance and Mrs. Earl Glass led singing of the national anthem.

Mrs. Louise Ulen, secretary, read minutes of the May and June meetings and Mrs. Howard Burnett Sr., vice regent, read the President General's message. The State Regent's message was read by Mrs. Carroll Ritenour.

An invitation was extended to members to attend the southwest district meeting Sept. 15 in Eaton, where the coffee hour begins at 9 a.m. The Washington C. H. chapter has invited the William Horney Chapter to a luncheon meeting Oct. 5 in the Benton Room at Washington Inn, reservation to be made with Mrs. R. D. Powell by Sept. 28. Mrs. George Reedy reminded members to send birthday cards to Mrs. Maude J. Knight, Wooster, Sept. 14.

Mrs. Glass, Constitution Week chairman, said that appropriate observance of the week will be made and a display will be set up in Jeffersonville.

Rep. Joseph H. Hiestand, of Hillsboro, guest speaker, discussed "State Government," mentioning specifically House Bill 1219 which became law Aug. 16. It is designed as a deterrent to student rioting. Members found his discussion of considerable interest.

With a suggestion that each member display the flag during Constitution Week, the regent thanked the committee for the pleasant meeting. The Year Book committee, hostesses, included Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Richard Craig, Mrs. Glass, Mrs. Harold Cline, Miss Helen Fults, Mrs. Frank Marshall and Mrs. Charles Cline.

Guests enjoying the occasion were Rep. Hiestand and Mrs. Harold Anderson, Mrs. Russell Garringer, Miss Lois Lampe, of Jeffersonville; Mrs. Ruth Patch, Milledgeville; Mrs. Margaret Ehrle, Springfield; and Mrs. Florence Inskip and Mrs. Walter Thompson, of Washington C. H.

Members attending the luncheon and program were, in addition to those already named, Mrs. Charles Seibert, Mrs. John Robbins, Miss Lillian Barnes, Mrs. Russell Townsley, Mrs. Harry M. Rankin, Mrs. C.S. Kelley, Mrs. Ralph Angle, Mrs. Ance Creamer, Mrs. Harold Zimmerman, Mrs. Vere Foster, Mrs. Harry Elliott, Mrs. Marvin Stockwell, Mrs. Jean Warner, Mrs. Nathan Ervin, Mrs. W. Williams, Mrs. George Combs and Mrs. Otho Fent.

Miss Hoffman To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoffman, 2914 Reaver Ave., Grove City, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Carol Ann, to John P. Kuebler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kuebler, Plain City-Georgesville Rd., West Jefferson. The Kueblers formerly lived in Jeffersonville.

Miss Hoffman is a 1968 graduate of Grove City High School and is presently employed at Robert Shaw Controls. Mr. Kuebler, who graduated from Miami Trace High School in 1963, is employed at General Motors.

The wedding will be an event of Nov. 7.

8th Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Huff, Rt. 5, entertained with a party for their daughter, Jodi, on the occasion of her eighth birthday Tuesday. A pink and white color theme in decorations, cake and ice cream pleased Jodi and her small friends. Kelley Jo Lane and Kathy Sue Thompson won prizes to add to the pleasure.

Others attending were Kris Wolfe, Tammy Arnold, Kim Bowermaster, Wendy Hidy, Valerie Dorn, Tammy Schneider, Pam Smith, Kristi and David Cummings, Jodi's sisters, Debbie and Robin, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Cummings, Edna Huff, Louise Boyer, and an aunt, Linda Cummings.

Dear friends,

Although at time of death the spirit departs the un-needed body, it is only natural for the bereaved family to revere the body as the symbol of the departed. St. Augustine, centuries ago, said that the body is the instrument of the soul in the performance of good works and it is thus proper to pay respect to the body and treat it with reverence.

Xenia Humbles Blue Lions, Panthers Edged By Jets

Snider Passing Leads Bucs To 50-8 Triumph

By BILL SMITH
Record-Herald Sports Writer

The Washington C. H. Blue Lions, playing probably one of the best passing teams in the central Ohio area, watched four bombs bombard their defenses Friday night at Gardner Park Stadium as they lost their inaugural match of the season to the Xenia Buccaneers, 50-8.

In front of a capacity crowd, the Blue Lions held their own on the ground, penetrating once for a touchdown late in the first half. But, the Bucs ran the contest out of sight in the second half, finishing the game with 302 yards of aerial fireworks.

Behind the brilliant passing game was quarterback Mike Snider, an adept senior who apparently never runs. He completed a total of 11 of 22 attempts, four of them touchdown passes. Added to the aerial bombardment were three paydirt scorers by land warfare on the Xenia side of the ledger. Once the Buc offense got into gear, little could be done to stop it.

XENIA marched 39 yards on its first series of plays only to be stalled by Jim Heath, who picked off one of Snider's passes. But, the Lions' ensuing drive ran out of gas on the Xenia 26-yard line.

Xenia's Gerhardt went 58 yards with one of Snider's passes to put the Bucs on the scoreboard with two minutes remaining in the first quarter. The Snider-Gerhardt combo was good for the extra points and the Bucs led 8-0.

Lion halfback Jim Heath, on the next series of plays, was injured. It set the pattern for the remainder of the game as three other Blue Lion regulars were sidelined at least part of the game with injuries.

The ball changed hands twice the second half before Xenia scored again on a one-yard plunge by Hubbard. Snider and Gerhardt "did their thing" by connecting for the extras and the Bucs were leading 16-0.

The most successful drive of the night for the Maurice Pfeiffer-coached Blue Lions culminated in a touchdown with two minutes remaining in the first half. Jim Heath plunged in from one yard out after Washington C. H. drove 67 yards, picking up three first downs on the way.

Heath tucked in a Steve Ross pass for the extra points. Although the Lions played surprisingly well despite the score, those extra points were to be their last dent on the scoreboard for the night.

THE LIONS went into their pregame defense, but it couldn't stop Harbin from going 34 yards with another Snider bomb for the Buccaneers' third score of the evening. Lion cornerback Mike Domenico managed to get his hands up to bat down the extra points try — again an attempted pass by Snider.

The Buccaneers successfully pulled an onside kickoff, but they ran out of time before they could capitalize on it. At the half gun, the Blue Lions were down, 22-8.

The third quarter proved to be the most damaging to the Lions. Their health was involved. Starting split end David DeWeese dislocated a thumb, but later returned to action after a quick tape job.

Steve Ross was sidelined until halfway into the fourth quarter when he was driven into the concrete stands on a quarterback keep.

Adding to their problems, the Lions lost possession of the football through a fumble on the Xenia 13-yard marker. Xenia capitalized on the miscue by marching all the way for a score. The touchdown drive was culminated by — it's that guy Snider again — a 50-yard paydirt pass to — you guessed it — Gerhardt. Hubbard added spice to the menu by running the extras.

The injury bugaboo continued as Heath was again injured on the next drive. This time he left the lineup for the evening, hopefully to return for practice Monday.

TWO MORE Xenia scores came late in the third quarter with Fletcher scoring one from three yards out and Harbin running the last 13 yards for the other. He also scored the extra points on a run to make it 38-8.

A Blue Lion fumble halfway through the fourth quarter set up another Buccaneer touchdown. With a new signal-caller in the lineup, the Bucs marched to yet another touchdown late in the game. Bowermeister passed to Boddie, completing the 44-yard touchdown play.

Just prior to the final score, Steve Ross had re-entered the game, but could do no more in attempting to move the Blue Lions than QB Bill Junk, who had spelled him earlier.

One of the bright spots in that fourth period was a fumble recovery by John Green. The Lions moved to the Xenia 35 with it before Xenia regrouped its strong pass rush to stop the drive.

Washington C. H. had a total of 238 yards offensively including 57 yards in the air. Xenia wound up the game with a total of 476 yards, 302 yards of that real estate coming from Snider passes.

Coach Pfeiffer, with his work out for him in next week's practice sessions, will be attempting to iron out the bugs before the Blue Lions travel to Chillicothe for a bout with the rival Cavaliers.

Circleville Posts Sole SCOL Victory

The Circleville Tigers, promising to be one of the stingiest teams defensively in the South Central Ohio League, were just that Friday night as they held the offense-minded Grove City Greyhounds scoreless.

The Tigers posted a 6-0 victory to become the only South Central Ohio League team to card a win Friday night. On the losing end of big scores were Wilmington, beaten by Hamilton Taft, 39-0; Hillsboro, beaten by Lebanon, 43-8; Washington C. H., beaten by Xenia, 50-8; and Greenfield, beaten by London, 28-8.

The Miami Trace Panthers fared a little better, letting a game-winning touchdown slip by their defenses in the fourth quarter to lose to Springfield Northeastern, 22-14.

Circleville scored its solo touchdown in the second period on a Tom Bowers pass to Mike Webb. The play covered 11 yards and culminated a long drive. Circleville's defense held the Mid-8 power to 81 yards rushing and nine yards by passing. The closest Grove City got to Circleville's goal line was the 23-yard marker. One of the key factors in the game was a total of four Grove City fumbles, all four of which the Tigers recovered.

Circleville gained 97 yards rushing and 43 yards passing with Bowers connecting on five of nine passes. But, some bad news hit the Tiger camp. All-SCOL linebacker Dick Radcliff suffered a broken wrist at the outset of the game and middleguard Mark Davey separated a shoulder.

Oakland Stops Kansas City, 3-0

Bob Gibson Stops Mets

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Bob Gibson-Tom Seaver duel was billed as a matchup between Cy Young Award winners but the St. Louis ace wasn't interested. His only concern was beating the New York Mets and he did so convincingly.

The hard-throwing right-hander stifled the Mets on five hits as the Cardinals whipped Seaver and his mates 5-2 Friday night, dropping the New Yorker's one-half game behind the East Division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates, who were idle. The Chicago Cubs, another half-length back, also did not play.

New York newspapers headlined the meeting between Seaver, the 1969 Cy Young recipient and Gibson, the 1968 winner, the last two days. "Seaver's a good pitcher," Gibson said. "But I don't carry on about him the way you guys do," referring to the writers. "Not unless he's a real good hitter."

Seaver didn't do much hitting nor did any of his mates as Gibson rolled to his 21st victory of the season, striking out seven Mets. He has lost six. His lifetime mark over New York now stands at 24-7.

Seaver, 18-11, struck out 10 in six innings, increasing his season's total to 274, a National League record for right-handed pitchers. The righty however ran into trouble in one inning—the fourth—when the Cards scored four times. Jose Cardenal triggered the rally with a two-run double.

Cleon Jones had three of the hits off Gibson, running his hitting streak to 18 games. In other NL games, San Diego edged Cincinnati 3-2, Houston nipped Atlanta 3-2, Montreal blanked Philadelphia 1-0 and San Francisco downed Los Angeles 4-3.

Nate Colbert snapped a 2-2 tie with his 31st homer in the seventh inning, backing the two-hit pitching of Pat Dobson in the Padres' triumph. Dennis Menke rapped a two-out, run-scoring single in the eighth inning, cracking a tie and giving the Astros their victory.

Carl Morton tossed a two-hitter and Gary Sutherland came through with an RBI eighth-inning single, giving the Expos right-hander his 16th victory. He has lost 10.

Tight relief pitching by Mike Davison and Don McMahon helped Juan Marichal, forced out of the game with stomach cramps in the seventh, gain his 11th victory as the Giants held off the skidding Dodgers.

Colbert Homer Gives Padres 3-2 Victory Over Cincinnati

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Most major league sophomores would be satisfied to hit 31 home runs this season, as Nate Colbert has done. Instead, the San Diego first baseman believes he has made no progress this year.

"I'm going to forget about home runs in winter ball in Puerto Rico and try to win the batting championship," the 24-year-old Colbert said Friday night after he clouted a seventh-inning homer to give the Padres a 3-2 victory over Cincinnati. The Padres, winning three straight for the first time this year, seek No. 4 and their ninth victory in 11 meetings with the Reds tonight. Danny Coombs, 9-12, pitches for San Diego against Tony Cloninger, 7-5.

It torments Colbert that his batting average is only .243, 12 points lower than last year, when he played his first full major league season. "I thought I could hit 30 home runs this year," said the man who had 24 in 1969, "but I also thought I could average at least .280. If I had done that, I would have a hundred runs-batted-in by now, instead of 75."

Colbert's homer Friday night broke a 2-2 tie and enabled Pat Dobson, 12-14, to win an exciting duel from Gary Nolan, 16-7. "That's the best game he has ever pitched for," said Padre pitching coach Roger Craig after Dobson walked none, struck out nine and gained his seventh victory in his last 11 decisions.

The 28-year-old right hander was in trouble when Tony Perez tripped with one out in the second inning. He was in an even deeper jam when the Reds placed runners at first and third with none out in the third

MT Penalties Sew Up Win For Northeastern

By DON EDWARDS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

The Miami Trace Panthers, with a new head coach who is not afraid to gamble, played the Northeastern Jets from Springfield on even terms Friday night, but lost a thrill-packed opener for both squads on Northeastern's field, 22-14.

The loss was fashioned basically on 11 rule infractions which not only penalized the Panthers by a total of 95 yards, but also nullified some spectacular gainers, one a sure touchdown.

Despite the raggedness of the line and occasional spurts of poor timing in the backfield, the Panthers broke even on the board with the Jets late in the game, 14-14, only to let a last-ditch touchdown effort by Northeastern slip through the barrier.

New head coach Roy Lucas, who has apparently put zip in Panther enthusiasm, went to his basic strength early — utilizing returning co-captain Jeff Blake for a balanced aerial attack and Tony Grooms for the running game. For a bit more razzle-dazzle, Coach Lucas switched Blake from quarterback to halfback, with Suph Pete Jones in the signal-caller position. And Blake performed like a battering ram through the Jet defenses.

Lion-Panther Grid Tips

One of the best followings the Panthers have ever had at Northeastern filled the visitor's section at Springfield almost an hour before the game. Although there was no official count, one Miami Trace official figured the following at about 1,900 people.

Steve Ross completed seven of 17 passes for a total of 64 yards. Ross was throwing right on target all evening, but in many cases the receivers just couldn't hold onto the ball.

The Miami Trace Marching Band, approximately 140 members strong, performed its first halftime show of the year Friday night at Springfield Northeastern. Led by Director Paul Febo, the band was well received by both the Panther and Jet followers. The two bands combined before the game for the National Anthem.

Mike Snider, doing what seems to come natural, completed 11 passes in 22 attempts, totaling up 292 yards in the air.

Junior Jack Reno, a Miami Trace flanker, was put out of action for the rest of the season with 3:55 remaining in the first period of Friday night's game. He suffered a severe dislocation of the right elbow.

Steve Ross was the leading ground gainer for the Blue Lions. He picked up 73 yards on 13 carries for an average of 5.6 yards per try.

Springfield Northeastern ball 45 times Friday night for 258 yards. Most of their gains came on the counter play. Fullback David Sharp had 73 yards in 14 carries, halfback Mike Augustus carried the ball 12 times for 64 yards; halfback Bryce Banion went 12 times for 81 yards; and quarterback Tom Bednarczyk scrambled five times for 21 yards.

Boxers Needed

Competition in the Sunday Mixed Couples League at Bowland will get underway at 6 p.m. Sunday, announces Mrs. Dwight Lovett, league secretary and treasurer.

Some couples are still needed to fill out the league and should contact Mrs. Lovett (948-2368) or come to the bowling lanes Sunday. There are two couples on each team in the league.

Another MT Break Forged by Defense Came in the Form of a Recovered Fumble at Midfield by Jeff Spears Early in the Fourth Quarter. After One Running Play and an Incomplete Pass, Blake Heaved the Bomb to Spears who Tucked in the Aerial and Sped into the Endzone. The Pass Play Covered 48 Yards. Blake Ran in the Extra Points to Tie the Score at 14-14.

Bryce Banion covered 40 yards in two plays in the final Jet drive of the game. He bolted from the 40 to the 20 on a counter and eluded tacklers for the last 20 yards with 5:37 remaining in the contest. David Sharp, the workhorse fullback, scored his first points of the game by running in the extras to level the score at 22-14.

After that both teams bogged down around midfield on an exchange the ball.

MT Penalties Sew Up Win For Northeastern

By DON EDWARDS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

The Miami Trace Panthers, with a new head coach who is not afraid to gamble, played the Northeastern Jets from Springfield on even terms Friday night, but lost a thrill-packed opener for both squads on Northeastern's field, 22-14.

The loss was fashioned basically on 11 rule infractions which not only penalized the Panthers by a total of 95 yards, but also nullified some spectacular gainers, one a sure touchdown.

Despite the raggedness of the line and occasional spurts of poor timing in the backfield, the Panthers broke even on the board with the Jets late in the game, 14-14, only to let a last-ditch touchdown effort by Northeastern slip through the barrier.

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say—By ESTRELLITA

For Tomorrow

PLANETARY restrictions lift now, so Sunday should be a most pleasant day. Especially favored: Outdoor interests, sports, family concerns and romance.

For The Birthday

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that it would be advisable to take advantage of all available opportunities to boost your occupational status now since, within four weeks, you will enter a most generous 3-month cycle during which rewards for past (and present) efforts should prove highly gratifying. Achievements then could not only give your spirits a lift but lead to still further opportunities during late March, early May and throughout another splendid 3-month cycle beginning on June 1. Most auspicious periods for financial interests: November, January, early March and mid-July.

Happy domestic and social relationships should enliven most of this new year in your life, but October, December, January, April and August should prove the most interesting. These months, incidentally, will also be highly propitious for travel. Most auspicious periods for new romance and/or marriage: October, December, late March and August.

A child born on this day will be extremely trustworthy and will maintain very high principles; may suffer needlessly at times when others can't live up to his standards.

The Day After Tomorrow

You may be faced with some complex situations on Monday, but you can solve them by using good judgment and making careful investigations as to their cause. Make no hasty decisions and don't jump to conclusions about anything.

For The Birthday

If Monday is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that ambitious plans, along job and financial lines, coupled with energy and consistency in carrying them out, could prove highly remunerative by this time next year. Keep alert, therefore, and capitalize on all available opportunities to display your ingenuity and spirits of enterprise.

In just four weeks you will enter an excellent 3-month cycle for advancing your occupational interests, with further boosts star-promised in late March, early May and throughout another splendid 3-month cycle beginning on June 1. On the fiscal score, excellent opportunities for increasing assets are indicated during November, January, early March and mid-July—the latter month inaugurating an excellent 2-month cycle governing all areas of your life.

Be careful not to antagonize those in your domestic circle during February and/or July, or you could offset what could be a year of perfect harmony. Most auspicious periods for romance: October, December, late March and August; for travel and social interests: October, late December, January, April and August.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine mind, unusual tolerance toward his fellowman and outstanding scientific ability.

negotiating a curve, and then cut over into the northbound lane, where it struck the Luckhart car head-on.

Both the 1967 model Grooms car and the 1969 model Luckhart car were demolished, according to sheriff's deputies.

The accident, which resulted in a long traffic tie-up, still is under investigation by Sheriff Don Thompson, Chief Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur and Deputy William Crooks.

IN FOUR OTHER accidents reported in the city-county area Friday and Saturday morning, one person was cited for a traffic violation and damage was over $1,780.

David Armstrong, 22, Sabina, was cited by police following a wreck at the intersection of Lewis and Rawlings streets about 10:37 a.m. Friday for failure to heed a stop sign.

The Armstrong car was westbound on Rawlings Street and failed to heed the stop sign at the intersection, according to police. It then struck a car driven by Carl Gatewood, 21, Rt. 5, which was southbound on Lewis Street.

Damage to the Gatewood vehicle was estimated at $1,300, to the Armstrong car, $300.

Johnnie Binegar, 17, Rt. 2, and Viva Kochenderfer, 49, Columbus, were involved in a minor collision near the intersection of Columbus Avenue and Elm Street about 11 p.m. Friday. The damage to the Binegar car was estimated at $15, to the other vehicle $75.

Cherrie Johnson, 17, New Holland, reported to sheriff's deputies that she demolished a 1961-model car in a wreck on Glaze Road near Vincent Road about 1 p.m. Friday. The Johnson car went out of control on Glaze Road, went off the pavement and struck a culvert, according to the report.

Cluey Wallin, 32, Clarksburg, and Pat Croker, 28, Rt. 1, New Holland, were involved in a wreck at the Armo parking lot about 3 p.m. Friday.

The Wallin vehicle stopped in a line of traffic and was struck in the rear by the Croker vehicle, according to the Sheriff's Department report. Damage to the Wallin car was estimated at $90, to the Croker vehicle, minor.

Sen. Saxbe To Sell Stock In Company

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, says he is selling his stock in Bally Mfg. Co. of Chicago, a pinball and slot machine manufacturer.

An aide to the senator said Friday night Saxbe bought the stock "in good faith" on the recommendation of a brokerage firm and is selling after learning there might be something "not in good faith about it."

Copyright Protection Wanted By Musicians

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of the American Federation of Musicians told the AFM convention here that the union has petitioned the State Department to include recordings among works to be protected in the Universal Copyright Convention.

Herman Kenin, AFM president, said that $186 million worth of counterfeit records were sold last year and another $50 million of fraudulently duplicated tape cartridges. This represents financial losses to the musicians who made the original recordings and to the composers.

With the end of the 1960's, we are closing the era of the 40-hour week. With the 1970's, we are entering a new phase in which we will have ever more leisure time, ever less work time.

Spending on hobbies and recreational gadgets is currently increasing 10 per cent a year.

The two-week vacation will become the three and four-week vacation; the two-day weekend will become the three-day weekend; retirement at 65 will gradually become retirement at 55. Unions are fighting now for shorter work days and weeks.

This trend will, and is now having a very direct bearing on real estate property related to leisure. Summer cottages are rising steadily in value — in some places skyrocketing — as demand grows. Farm land of marginal agricultural value is, in many instances, acquiring new value as recreational areas.

Beach frontage, land for country retreats and businesses related to leisure activities are becoming very good investments. A knowledgeable Realtor has his fingers on the best properties available in his area for individuals seeking to fulfill personal desires or investors looking to the future.

It would be a wise investment in your future to check into these opportunities.

Stiff Air Pollution Proposal Attacked By Auto Makers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill requiring automobile manufacturers to eliminate 90 per cent of exhaust pollution by 1976 has won unanimous approval of the Senate Public Works Committee.

The clean-air bill, toughest ever considered by Congress, was attacked by Ford Motor Co. after Friday's committee action.

Herbert L. Misch, Ford's vice president for engineering and manufacturing, said the bill "is unrealistic in terms of current or anticipated technological development and poses a major threat not only to the automotive industry but to the American economy."

The bill, Misch added in a statement issued in Detroit, "leaves us enormously dissatisfied and discouraged."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, author of the measure, said unanimous approval by Public Works "whose members cut across the entire spectrum of Senate opinion," will make it easier to pass the bill.

The bill is scheduled for Senate action Sept. 21. However, if passed by the Senate, it would go to a conference with the House which has approved a milder version. Muskie declined to forecast results of such a conference.

While the major thrust of the bill is in the area of automobile exhaust fumes, it also would create machinery for setting air quality standards for the nation which would have to be met within 5½ years after passage.

The Public Works Committee rewrote one major part of Muskie's bill. The committee set the Jan. 1, 1975, deadline, as suggested by Muskie, for car manufacturers to reduce pollution by 90 per cent.

But the committee added an escape clause giving the Department of Health, Education and Welfare authority to provide a one-year extension, even though court action could block such a delay.

Thus, the absolute deadline for compliance would be Jan. 1, 1976.

Manufacturers had contended they could not meet the 1975 deadline because of a technology lag.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., called this claim ridiculous, noting four college students taking part in the recent cross-country "clean car race," had equipped a 1970 car with adequate pollution-control devices.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has placed in effect regulations prohibiting the discharge into waterways of any amount of oil large enough to cause a visible slick.

The new rules apply to all navigable waterways in the United States, plus as far as 12 miles offshore. The only exceptions are discharges from a properly operating ship engine and approved experiments.

The regulations were proposed last July 24 and 30 days were allowed for comment.

In announcing the rules Friday, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel said violators may be fined up to $10,000 for each offense, and the owner or operator of the ship may be required to pay cleanup costs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A veteran Democratic leader says the party should take care in selecting the site of its 1972 national convention because "we do not want to make the activities of local officials the convention cannot control an issue in the presidential campaign."

Samuel C. Brightman, former press director of the Democratic National Committee, said Friday, "Unless the site is right and it is clearly understood and accepted by the local community that the convention is in charge of this area, forget it and advise the delegates to bring helmets and gas masks."

Brightman, who helped plan five Democratic conventions, said he was shocked and heart-sick while watching the 1968 Chicago convention. He said the party should insist, in selecting a convention site, that "the community goes along with the hall."

He testified before a hearing of the convention's commission on rules.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel will meet with President Nixon here Sept. 18.

The White House announced the meeting Friday.

Mrs. Meir's announced purpose for the three- or four-day visit to the United States is to boost the Israeli bond drive. But she is expected to discuss with Nixon charges that Egypt has violated the cease-fire in the Arab-Israeli war.

Mrs. Meir will arrive in New York Thursday.

STIMULANTS AND SEDATIVES.
THE "UP" AND "DOWN" DRUGS.

The Stimulants causing today's problems are usually the amphetamines that are illegally purchased under such names as "Bennies, Speed and Pep Pills." The Depressants causing trouble are also illegally purchased under names like "Goof Balls" or "Barbs," and are usually barbiturates.

It is important that these drugs be taken only when prescribed by a physician or dentist. The prescription should be filled in a pharmacy and taken exactly as specified.

Chronic Drug Abuse is usually a symptom of an emotional or mental illness. Experimental drug users need information on the dangers. The next of the Public Service messages will discuss Stimulants in more detail.

2 Area Horses Win At Scioto

Horses from the Washington C. H. area were much in evidence in the races Friday night at Scioto Downs. In all, 10 faced the starting gate in half of the 10 races — and two of them made it to the winner's circle.

Dr. J. M. Herbert's 4-year-old gelding, Scotmore, won his second race in 12 starts this season in 2:06.3 with Larry Richard at the reins and Lakewood Betty, a mare from Lakewood Hills Farm, won her seventh race in 14 starts in 2:05.

Three of the eight starters in the third race were from this area. Senator Berry, owned by Richard and Joe Asher, of New Holland, went to the front but faded in the stretch and finished fifth. Dr. Herbert's Scot Miser was sixth and Jerry Counsel owned by Ray French and Harry Thraikill was fourth.

Three of the starters in the sixth race also were from this area. Maceo, owned and driven by Billie Welsh, finished third, Wingait Chief, owned by Clinton Gilmore, was fifth and J. A. n. a Dee, owned by Louis Coe, of Jeffersonville and driven by Alva Hanners trailed the field of eight.

Of the two from this area in the seventh race, Grays Dream, owned and driven by Phil Jones of Greenfield narrowly missed chalking up his second win in 21 starts this season, when he finished second. Lycra, owned by Ray French was eighth in trying for his third win in 11 starts.
